The A&M Railroad was founded in 1986 by an investor group and operates on 150 miles of track from Monett, MO to Fort Smith, AR. The track was part of the former St. Louis - San Francisco (Frisco) system built in the 1880's, which, back then shipped mostly timber, produce, livestock and even passengers. The freight over this rail has changed over the years and now the A&M does not ship livestock anymore, but has expanded their shipments to a large variety to meet their customer needs. 1990, the A&M started a passenger excursion service to view the scenery of the Boston Mountains to promote tourism and community relations.
