The Port Harbor Railroad serves America's Central Port in Granite City, IL. Incorporated in 2010, the PHRR is part of the Respondek family of companies, providing daily service to customers ranging in size from a few per month to entire unit trains. It has direct access for loading agricultural products onto barges at a facility below all locks on the Mississippi river, as well as facilities for transloading products as large as 85' lengths of pipe. With a responsive staff who can provide extra switches and additional service whenever your business requires it, the PHRR is experienced in handling time-sensitive traffic as well as HAZMAT. Warehousing, transloading, and build-to-suit sites are available.
